Graduate Student Newsletter - May 17, 2024

Some may have received this newsletter. It has been resent due to technical issues.

Dear graduate students,

Thank you to all student presenters and staff and faculty judges of the 14th Annual Graduate Research Forum on Friday, May 10.

Graduate students kicked off the Forum when thirteen students presented on interdisciplinary research panels and shared scholarship focused in four community of interest areas: Caregiving community, International community, 2SLGBTQIA3+ community, Disabled or Neurodivergent community. Panel presentations were followed by a poster session featuring more than 50 graduate student presenters from all disciplines.

Visit the Division Forum webpage to see the winners, presenters, and judges.

Sincerely,
Division of Graduate Studies

Funding & Support

Division of Graduate Studies Student Service Opportunities

Submit interest by September 15

The Division of Graduate Studies is looking for students with a diverse range of personal and professional experiences who want to collaborate with students, staff, and faculty from across campus on policies and governance. Graduate student input is crucial to our mission and a key voice in university-wide operations. No prior service experience required.

Graduate Student Wellbeing and Success Survey

Submit through the end of Week 10

Complete this end-of-year survey to help the university better understand the realities of being a graduate student on campus. New issues focused on graduate student experiences have been embedded. Pizza will be provided to students who complete the survey during Week 8 in the EMU.
